NEW NORTH SUFFERS LOSS BY FIRE.

Fire Damages Both Printing Outfit and Building.

About eleven o'clock Friday night fire was discovered in the back of the compositor's room, by the foreman who was passing by. He, at once sent in an alarm and the fire department quickly responded. Entrance was made by breaking a window but the smoke was so dense that the fire men had difficulty in locating its source; when once discovered it was soon extinguished. The fire apparently started from an uncovered electric wire or a short circuit wire, there being no other evidence of its origin.

It burned and charred a dozen or more joist under the floor and also charred the rough floor beneath the hard wood floor, then passed through the basement stairway to the machine room badly damaging the presses and destroying a large amount of print paper.

In the composing room the back partition was badly burned, also every thing in proximity to it—including files, job work on the racks and several small machines. The water was carefully confined to the immediate vicinity of the fire but necessarily such a large stream did much damage to the machinery.

The building and printing outfit are insured at about two-thirds value, but the loss is not adjusted yet.

CITIZENS' COURSE.

Sylvester A. Long is a master of human speech, and may be heard in his great lecture "Lightning and Toothpicks" at the Opera House next Monday Jan. 13, when he comes to fill the third number of the Citizens' Course. He is in a class with Bryan and La Follette as an orator and will be booked along with them by the Slayton Bureau next season. Hear him now, for when the Slayton Bureau gets him, his price will soar. Tickets 50c; school pupils tickets 25c. All seats reserved at Nichols' hardware on the day of the lecture Jan. 13. Those holding course tickets will please get their tickets reserved anew.

REFORESTATION.

The Chicago & Northwestern company has withdrawn all of its timbered lands in Wisconsin and northern Michigan from the market, and will use them for the growth of tie and bridge timber for its 7,500 miles of track. The Northwestern has upwards of 250,000 acres in the upper peninsula and 150,000 acres in northern Wisconsin. The cutting will be done scientifically and the underbrush and refuse cleared away. Trees will then be planted which will make good tie timber, the planting being done on a plan approved by Gifford Pichot, head of the United States forestry department. Cedar, hemlock, tamarack, oak, maple and elm will be used for ties, all being treated with the creosote preservation process at the company's great plant at Escanaba.

BAPTIST CHURCH CROWDED.

Every available seat at the First Baptist Church was occupied and many had to stand at the service last Sunday night when Rev. Thomas W. Gales opened his series of sermons on the parable of the "Prodigal Son" which is running every night this week, until Friday. The Orchestra rendered a fine selection of musical numbers, the Junior Choir under the pastor's leadership sang "One Soul Redeemed" and Miss Vera Hixby and Leila Gales sang "One Day Nearer Home." The service reached its climax when the pastor baptized five candidates, presenting each one with a beautiful white carnation as a memento of the occasion.

HARD TIMES DANCE.

The full Military Orchestra will give a hard times dancing party next Wednesday evening at Gilligan's Hall. A notice has been issued for all participants to wear their old clothes and have the best time of the season.

Soo Line Will Test New Law.

Although the law passed by the last legislature, providing for an eight hour day for telegraph operators, went into effect yesterday, the Soo Line has made no change in the manner of operating trains, either in this city or the smaller stations along the line where but one man is in charge. The day and night operators at this station both work twelve hours, and at some of the smaller stations are obliged to work longer hours. It is evidently the intention of the Soo people to test the law.

Most of the other roads of the state have taken out the operators at the smaller stations, leaving telegraph stations about thirty miles apart. It is believed that the public will soon become disgusted with the inconvenience of this system and demand the repeal of the law.—Ladysmith News-Budget.

A COLD WAVE IS DUE SOON.

A temperature of thirty degrees below zero is pretty cold weather, but even colder than that is promised in this city soon. More than ten times 30 below will be the temperature in the tank that contains liquid air which Prof. Patty will use for experiments. Liquid air is one of the most paradoxical substances known—a liquid looking and flowing like water but absolutely dry; 312 degrees below zero yet produces heat 3500 above zero, and in almost the same space. It boils on ice, steel melts in it, alcohol solidifies in it, tin, iron and rubber are made brittle, and quicksilver is made hard as steel. These, and many other experiments will be performed. Mr. Patty brings specimens of the new material mineral, radium; also a wireless telegraph apparatus and will give a demonstration of these three wonderful subjects. It is very seldom that an attraction comes here endorsed half so emphatically as is this novel and instructive trio of wonders. At the First Baptist Church Monday Jan. 27.

ANTI-PROHIBITION LEAGUE.

Realizing the extreme danger of the coming Legislature enacting unjust laws which would prove of serious consequences to the liquor interests of Wisconsin and the necessity of prompt action for the protection of the interests some thirty representative retail liquor dealers from different parts of the state met at the Hotel Blatz, Milwaukee, on Thursday and Friday, December 5th and 6th.

At this meeting a general discussion of the conditions existing and the necessity for prompt action on the part of the entire liquor interests of the state was gone over and it was decided to form an organization which would be known as the Anti-Prohibition League of Wisconsin.

WON'T TAKE STUMP.

Senator Robert M. La Follette will not speak in Wisconsin or elsewhere in his own behalf prior to the Republican national convention. He has been urged by friends to speak in the state during the campaign for the election of delegates but refused on the grounds that his senatorial duties will not permit him to return home before the convention.

Invitations have also come from Michigan for speeches there, but the senator has made his refusal absolute.

The plan of making the senator leader of the Wisconsin delegation, has been abandoned, because it might be charged that by accepting a place on the delegation he was evidencing an inclination to take advantage of any opportunity that might occur.—Exchange.

WOOD BIDS WANTED.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, County Clerk of Oneida county, until January 20th, at noon for the delivery at the Court House before April 1st, 1908 of 100 cords of green hardwood, four foot, and 50 cords of green tamarack, four foot long. Bids will be received for amounts of twenty-five cords or upwards.

Bids will be opened at two o'clock January 20. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

WM. W. CARR,
County Clerk.

MARRIAGES.

Miss Colla Osowska and Joseph Jach were married at St. Mary's church at nine o'clock Tuesday morning. The bridal couple was attended by Miss Lizzie Nitka and Frank Jach. Father Ladis Stefanak of Antigo performed the ceremony, at which time, nuptial high mass was celebrated. The newly wedded couple left Tuesday night for Sand Point, Idaho.

DISCONTINUES TWO TRAINS.

Appleton, Wisconsin, January 7.—Not only has the Northwestern road let out about twenty-five operators because of the change to the eight-hour system, but yesterday two passenger trains were discontinued. They were No. 117 from Fond du Lac to Iron Mountain over the Wisconsin division and No. 62 from Appleton Junction north over the Ashland division.—Milwaukee Journal.

The Sunday train between Kaukauna and Rhinelander will hereafter run no further north than Antigo, maintaining the present schedule between that city and Antigo. The train leaving Appleton Junction at 8:30 a. m. for Kaukauna will be discontinued.

JANUARY WILL BE COLD.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks makes the following weather predictions for January:

A reactionary storm period is central on the 1st, 2d, and 3d.

A regular storm period is central on the 8th. By the 7th, rising temperature, falling barometer. By the 11th, the blizzards will have passed to the Atlantic seaboard, leaving the high barometer and severe cold to dominate the country.

A reactionary storm will make itself felt on the 13th, 14, and 15th.

A regular storm period falls on the 18th, to the 22d, having its center on the 20th.

A reactionary storm period falls on the 24th, to 27th. Rain and snow and sleet followed by colder may be expected. The month ends in a regular storm period.

STATE LINE NO MORE.

Hereafter address your letters "Donaldson" instead of "State Line," Wisconsin. The postoffice at State Line is no more, having been discontinued January first, the fixtures, etc. of the old office being removed to the mill-site of the Mason-Donaldson Lumber company, one and a half miles from State Line, installed in the store building and named "Donaldson."

The new office was established January 1, 1907, and went into effect January 1, 1908. Chas. W. Fish, manager of the Mason-Donaldson Lumber Company is the postmaster.—Vilas Co. News.

CORPORAL PUNISHMENT REVIVED.

As a result of investigation and discussion that has been going on for several months, principals and teachers in the New York public schools expect a new rule will soon be adopted by the board of education returning to corporal punishment, under certain restrictions.

This decision will have been largely influenced by an investigation recently made by a special committee appointed for that purpose. The chairman of that committee is Nathan S. Jones, president of the Citizens' Trust Company of Brooklyn, who has sent out circulars to teachers in all large cities of the United States asking for their experience and judgment in the matter of the use of the rod.

Answers received are overwhelmingly in favor of reasonable punishment in certain cases, and a report is soon expected from Mr. Jones' committee recommending a revision of the school law of New York to that end. In twenty-six cities out of thirty-nine of the largest in the United States corporal punishment is allowed under restrictions.

The matter has been considered extensively in the latest report of the United States commissioner of education, Dr. Elmer E. Brown of Washington who, after extensive study and investigation, holds to the view that corporal punishment, judiciously administered, has been shown to be productive of the best results in most of the larger cities. When the report of Mr. Jones' committee is submitted to the board it will be made public and the matter will be generally discussed before definite action is taken.

KING OF SWEDEN

ABOLISHES POMP.

King Gustave has made known his intention of abolishing the pompous ceremonies with which the Swedish parliament in the past has been opened. His majesty says these observances are a relic of mediocrity and inappropriate to a modern and progressive nation. This step, together with the abolition of the coronation ceremonies recently ordered by the king is hailed with great appreciation throughout Sweden as indicating a new and democratic era.

Due to the fire at The New North

This necessitates a change in the size of the paper this week.

E. S. Phillips, the self appointed Anti La Follette leader for many years, predicts that Taft will secure many delegates from this state. If Phillips' predictions are as near correct in this case as they have been in state politics in the past, we are surry for Taft. Phillips now takes his Taft boom east. He is traveling around the country getting himself interviewed on the political situation in Wisconsin.

PAPER BOLTS FORAKER.

The Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, Foraker's former main support states that Foraker asked for a primary election in Ohio to decide between him and Taft for presidential candidate, now bolts the idea on a technicality and tries to get the primary stopped.

The following is a statement of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune:

"What objection is to be found to the action of the state central committee directing the holding of a primary election in Ohio for the purpose of ascertaining the preference of the Republican voter on the question of the presidency?"

"The committee did not act originally of its own accord. The first officially framed request from a gentleman who had announced himself as a candidate for the presidency was from Senator Foraker. The objections assigned by Sen. Foraker are wholly and purely technical. He has received that which he requested, and the Republicans of the state will not be led into believing otherwise. Neither will they look on the primary, in principal or in detail as anything but fair to the candidates and to the voters, without burdensome or unlawful conditions, but with conditions binding on all taking part in the primary and fair and reasonable in themselves."

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood.
They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of the impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. W. F. Barewald, living at 619
Deleglise St., Antigo, Wis., says: "I am glad to have the opportunity to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for I know them to be worthy of my endorsement and I believe every one who takes them will be benefitted by their use. My husband has suffered more or less from backache and kidney trouble since he began railroading, often complaining of his back paining him. He procured Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store a few months ago and now he does not complain any more of kidney trouble or backache and we feel very grateful for the benefit he has derived."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., New York, sole agent for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GRIP PREVENTATIVES.

A thoughtful doctor has been telling people how to prevent grip. He lays down three simple rules:

"Keep the mouth, teeth, tonsils and nose clean."

Keep the vital resistance of the body up to the standard. That means plenty of sleep, simple food and good habits.

"Breathe plenty of fresh air indoors and out doors and keep the body protected from draughts and colds."

ARTIST NOT BUSINESS MAN.

Whistler Had Big Bank Account and Didn't Know It.

The Dundee Advertiser tells a story illustrating Whistler's forgetfulness and utter lack of business instinct. Being hard pressed for a debt and having finally been informed he would be sued unless a check for the amount was sent by return of post, the artist mentioned the matter to one of his friends who lived near him. Explaining that he had a few pounds in the bank, the exact sum unknown, he requested his friend to stop at the bank on the way to business to ascertain what was required to make his account good for a check of slightly over $50, and to deposit that amount for him as a loan. The friend was quite willing, and in due time stood at the cashier's desk of Whistler's bank asking for the amount of that gentleman's balance, explaining his errand. The cashier was interested; went to the big book of balances, turned over a few pages, wrote down some figures, and in a moment placed them before the astonished friend. Whistler's balance was more than $30,000. The artist was delighted, but found it difficult to remember when he had deposited so much money or where he had got it.

For Nature Students.

William Archer, the noted English critic, said at one of the meetings of the reformed spelling board in New York.

"I have been rather surprised, here in the States, with the general ignorance of what we spelling reformers are trying to do. Our aims are not at all understood. We have no idea of going to such ludicrous extremes as many people think."

"In fact, the average man's idea of reformed spelling is a good deal like the two young ladies' idea of natural history."

"What part of the animal does the chop come from?" said the first young lady. "Is it the leg?"

"Oh, not at all," said the other, laughing. "The leg! How ridiculous! It is, of course, the jaw bone. Have you never heard of animals licking their chops?"

The Reason.

Squiggs—I don't see why you refer to Beaton as a tailor-made man. I'm sure he's not extraordinarily well dressed.

Squiggs—No, not that, but because old Snips, the tailor, made him pay for a suit of clothes, which was the first thing he has ever been known to pay for.

Rainy Day Money.

"Is your husband putting by anything for a rainy day?" asked the prudent relative.

"I think so," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "I heard him mention several horses yesterday that he said always run best on a muddy track."

SWELL ORCHESTRA COMING HERE.

Next Wednesday evening, Jan. 15, at Armory, Prof. Maeder's orchestra of Appleton, will give a concert and dance. This organization is one of the best and most popular of its kind in the northwest, and is just completing a four months' tour of the country, having played to very large and enthusiastic audiences. Mr. Maeder, the leader, is a musician of high order and he has surrounded himself with an orchestra of artists which is sufficient to guarantee the success of the concert next Wednesday. After a brief but attractive concert program, dancing will be the diversion for the remainder of the evening.

CLEARING-HOUSES AND CURRENCY REFORM.

It has been generally understood that the Senate finance committee, of which Senator Aldrich is chairman, will take the initiative this winter in drafting a plan of currency reform, and the belief has been expressed in Washington that when this committee makes its report both houses will accept its recommendations, with very few if any changes.

It is even more thoroughly understood that no radical plan of reform will have any opportunity for getting a hearing. No authoritative statement has come from any member of the committee, but the reports have been that a strictly regulated and highly taxed emergency circulation will be recommended. Later more specific reports have been heard to the effect that the issue of such emergency currency will not be recommended for the individual banks, but only for the clearing-houses in the central reserve and reserve cities.

If the formal incorporation of emergency clearing-house currency, or some modification of it, into our monetary system takes place it will be a bit of progress of the very type with which Englishmen and Americans are most familiar—namely, experimentation in an extra-legal way, followed by formal legal enactments to give regular standing to a device that has already been proved good by the test of use.

Clearing-house certificates for use between banks in the settlement of their balances were first employed in New York in 1860, and they have since been resorted to on eight separate occasions. In 1893 and again last year such certificates, supplemented by many varieties of cashiers' checks and due bills, were issued for general circulation. Not a cent of loss resulted from the makeshift currency in 1893, and more is expected this year; indeed, the greater part of such issues have already been retired.

If the ALDRICH plan is being correctly forecast it will provide for forty-three centers for the issue of emergency currency, each serving its own district, and altogether serving the whole country. The plan is to have the clearing-houses accept from the banks on deposit municipal, state and railroad bonds, but no other securities, and to issue against them clearing-house certificates, which in turn can be deposited with the United States treasury as the basis for special note issues, which will pass into circulation like other money. A 6 per cent tax to force the speedy return of the issues is an essential part of the plan.

If such a programme as this is actually put out by Senator ALDRICH's committee it ought to stand a good chance of adoption as having a minimum of features objectionable to the proponents of any one of the more sweeping reforms. It will doubtless be urged that commercial paper as well as bonds should be permitted as the basis of such issues, but that point ought not to excite antagonism strong enough to wreck the plan itself.—Exchange.

It is early in the season to warm up much over municipal candidates for the April election but rumors have been loud the past few days.

At the regular meeting of the council last Tuesday evening the settlement of the purchase of the macadam outfit was emphatic, ten against and one for. Treasurer McArthur's oratory in behalf of its purchase availed nothing. Now it will give the Construction Company an opportunity to sell to one of the many other customers.

Employers' Liability Law unconstitutional so decides the Supreme Court of the United States by a vote of five to four. No two of the five set forth the same reason for the unconstitutionality of the law. When a Supreme Court decides a great question by a bare majority. The old narrow idea of the infallibility of the court goes to smash. The Chicago Record Herald says:

"If Congress cannot accomplish all that is necessary by enacting a new law this winter it is to be hoped that in the course of the more progressive spirit will enable the Supreme Court to declare some of the cobwebs in which our legal arguments of the majority members were entangled in the recent decision, and that then a more consistent interpretation of the scope of the interstate commerce clause will be possible."

The "Wearbetter Combination"

STRONGEST SUIT FOR BOYS

Mothers will be glad to know that a suit has been designed that is irresistible to strain. The most strenuous games can be played without fear of tearing the garment. Each suit has two pairs of knee pants—one of regular style, made with double knees and seat, all seams taped and double sewed, and one of knickerbocker design, with straps and buckles.

The trousers have strong pockets, riveted buttons, extension waistband—and are moth-resisting and sanitary.

The fabrics are of high-grade textures widely known for their superior wearing qualities. Shrinking or stretching is made impossible by a special sponging process.

We Guarantee Every Suit

If any of the sewing rips we exchange it for a new one. Buy your boy a "WEARBETTER COMBINATION"—the suit of style and strength.

A Beggar Woman's Trick.

A woman at Beaver Falls, Pa., it has just been discovered, has been going about regularly begging loaves of bread from residents on one side of a street, pleading that she had a sick husband and starving children at home. Then she packed the loaves nicely in a basket and passed along the other side and sold them at fancy prices, saying she was obliged to bake to support a large family.

Fictitious Impression.

"I cannot help thinking of the wonderful thought displayed in your daughter's commencement essay last June." "Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox, "judging from that essay, you would think she was as much interested in 'The Subservience of Individual Ambition to Eternal Destiny,' as she is in ice cream soda. But she isn't."

Wagner as a Curative Agent.

Vernon Lee has told somewhere the story of the marvelous effects of Wagner on a headache. One does, after a time, succumb to what is a kind of hypnosis; the sound seems almost to clear the air, or at least to lull one into a kind of dream in which only the sense of hearing exists.

The Glow of Glory.

We are all influenced by a desire of praise, and the best men are the most especially attracted by glory. Those very philosophers, even in the books which they write about despising glory, put their own names on the title-page. In the very act of recording their contempt for renown and notoriety, they desire to have their own names known and talked of.—Cicero.

Force of Suggestion.

"I wonder what it is that gives this room such a cold look?" "I guess it's the frieze on the walls."—Baltimore American.

We Ought to Fear Envy.

We ought to fear envy, by which the devil deceived the first man, as it is written, "Christ was crucified through envy, therefore he that on-vioth his neighbor crucifieth Christ."—The Venerable Bede (672-735).

For an Aching Head.

Often an aching head may be quickly relieved by bathing the face and back of the neck with perfumed water as hot as you can stand it. Let hot cloths saturated with a strong cologne water be placed to the forehead and back of the ears.

Spanish Sauce.

To make Spanish sauce for fish add half a green pepper and half an onion, both chopped fine to a regular tomato sauce.

One's Own Is Best.

German proverb: One's own thistle is dearer to him than his neighbor's garden of roses.

Speed the Day.

He that rocks a boat and survives will blow into a loaded gun some day.—Dallas News.

Love Can.

There are abysses that love cannot cross, but it can bury itself in them.—Rutazac.

Not Enough.

A case was to be tried on the charge of selling impure whisky. The night before the case came off the defendant went round to the judge's house. To the man at the door he said: "Here's a bottle of whisky, I want your master to try." "My master never tries anything but a case," pompously replied the butler.—Lippincott's.

ALMOST A COWARD

by Minnie Long

The man I wed must be a brave man. I would not marry a coward. I want a man who would go through fire and water for my sake."

The big white steamer was forcing its way swiftly through the waters of the lake on its way to South Haven. A gay throng of excursionists was on board. Young men and maidens were laughing and singing, children were playing, and a band of music was doing its best to make itself heard above the din of the merry-making.

Mildred and her two admirers were seated in a sheltered nook on the upper deck when she made the remark that she would marry none but a hero. Both men loved her—or at least one had told her so, and she could read the other man's secret in his eyes. But she could not decide between them. Harold Holean was handsome, a graceful talker, a good dresser, a man of the world. He was the one who had told her he loved her. On the other hand, John Walters was silent, rugged and sometimes awkward in speech and manner. Yet he was so sincere, so earnest, so manly, that Mildred almost imagined that it was he she loved best.

The steamer neared the mouth of the harbor, and the three stood at the rail, watching a fisherman in his boat almost in the direct line of the big ship's course. As the steamer neared the boat a darling thought flashed through Mildred's mind. What if she were to fall overboard? Who would be the first to spring to her rescue? Harold Holean or John Walters? Suppose she put them to the test. Even if both failed there was the fisherman in his boat, and so there could be no danger. And, Mildred reasoned, a wotting would be a small price to pay for a test upon which all her future happiness depended. She resolved to make the test.

Slyly she loosened the long pins which fastened her hat to her shining brown hair. Then, with a little exclamation she gave her head a toss which sent the hat flying from her. She made a quick grasp to reach it, and then with a wild shriek fell overboard. Hardly had she struck the water than the form of Harold Holean shot like an arrow from the rail and plunged in beside her. Mildred could swim, but her skirts sustained her, and she knew she was in no danger of sinking. And it was with a sense of inward satisfaction that she realized that at least one of her lovers had not hesitated to risk his life for her. Harold and sprang to her rescue, while John had remained safely on deck.

Three hours later on the return trip Mildred unexpectedly found herself alone with John Walters, and her face flushed under the stern gaze of his steel gray eyes.

Doubtless you are ready to set me down as a coward because I did not spring to your rescue," he said, sternly. "Do you think it was a fair test?"

"I might have been drowned," Mildred said, coldly.

"There was no chance of your drowning. I know you can swim. Then, besides, there was a fisherman in his boat, not three feet from where you fell. Besides, your 'accident' was too apparent. It was easy to see that you fell overboard deliberately and intentionally."

"And you were afraid to jump in after me," Mildred said, as she walked haughtily away. "You were a coward. Yes, I did fall in intentionally. I'm glad I did, for it enabled me to find a brave man."

The sun went down, and in the twilight the little groups of excursionists became quieter. Suddenly there was a cry. A little crippled girl had fallen overboard. Mildred and Harold, standing near the rail, saw the helpless form of the child whirl over and over in its flight toward the black waters of the lake, and saw the curly head sink from sight. Unconsciously Mildred turned to the man at her side with a questioning look in her eyes.

But he remained leaning against the rail, gazing almost unconcernedly at the water. With a queer feeling about her heart Mildred turned away. At the same instant there was a cheer. Some one else had leaped head long into the water and had reached the drowning child. The steamer quickly passed from sight, but the engines were reversed, and slowly the big boat came round to the spot where the child and rescuer had disappeared. Nothing was to be seen but the restless black waters of the lake. Then a shout rang out and the ship's searchlight soon located the forms in the water. Five minutes later the sailors helped John Walters and his burden to the deck.

It was not until one evening a week later, in her own home, that Mildred, with her head on John Walters' shoulder and his arm about her waist, sobbed out a plea for forgiveness for doubting his courage.

"I was foolish, John," she cried, "but now I'm glad, for I did find out which one of you was the real hero."

John kissed away her tears. He was so big and strong that Mildred nestled in his arms in happy content.

"And, after all, John," she said, looking up at him with the light of love shining in her tear moist eyes, "I'm going to marry a brave man—one that would go through fire and water for my sake, for if you hadn't saved that little girl I would have loved you a coward all the days of my life."

GOLD NUGGET A BEAUTY.

Alaskan Mine Has Probably the Largest Ever Found.

It is not an uncommon thing to see men who have enough greenbacks to choke an elephant, but it's not often that one meets a man with a gold nugget large enough to make even a horse sick if he had to try to eat it without having it run through a quartz mill. There is a man in Los Angeles, Cal., however, who has the nugget, and he is the Klondike king, Clarence Berry, who has come from Alaska, on a visit to his brother. The nugget might be likened to a man's hand with the palm turned upward, for it is over six inches long, almost four inches wide, is an inch thick at the thickest part, and "weighs" $1,510.

There are few men who can dig such chunks of gold out of their own mines, but Clarence Berry is one of these lucky miners. He is one of the pioneers of the gold mines of Alaska, and having been one of the first men to get to the various rich diggings, his energy and perseverance have been rewarded with a large amount of gold. How much no one knows but he, and he won't tell.

WHAT SHE WOULD SAY.

Young Teacher Evidently Had Her Opinion of the Principal.

A certain young teacher in one of the schools in Springfield, Mass., was recently more or less annoyed by the attentions of one of the masculine sex who holds a position of principal in the same school. There was in this young woman's room a pupil who was very dull and stupid.

One day the gallant principal was asked by the admired one to give his permission to have the child removed to some other room, thinking possibly he might be benefited by the change. The suggestion did not meet with the principal's immediate favor, and he remonstrated.

"Suppose," said he, "you and I were married and we had a child that nature was not overkind to, and we sent him to school. Suppose the teacher refused to have him in her room, saying he was too stupid and dull to learn, what would you say?"

"I should say he took after his father," was the quick retort.

Yes, Why Not?

Not long ago a well-known playwright decided that he would like to have a theater of his own in which to produce his own plays. He didn't have money enough to build it, but he had a wealthy friend in Wall street. As soon as the idea set in on him, the playwright visited Wall street and laid the scheme before his friend. The Wall street man put his feet on his mahogany desk and listened attentively. He admitted that he had a few hundred thousand dollars lying around loose, yet wasn't particularly enthusiastic on the theater project. "Why write plays?" he demanded, at last. "Write checks."

Childhood's Frankness.

The grown folk, seated on the wide veranda, were having a discussion concerning heaven, and a little daughter was sitting breezily around the group. A sail-like bow of Alice-blue ribbon fluttered above her curls and her white frock stood airily against the wind. "I came from heaven," she announced in the pause of the conversation. "They put wings on me and sent me down here; and," she added reminiscently, "I haven't seen anybody from there since."

Newspapers in China.

Native Chinese papers state that the Chinese press will in future be controlled by the ministry of posts and communications. The following new laws are proposed: The press shall not be permitted to attack either the government or the administration. Nothing of the nature of a personal attack shall be published, nor shall any secret document of the government be inserted. These laws will be put in operation after the advice of the ministers has been secured.

Battle with Ferocious Rats.

In a battle with rats, Abraham Hunsberger, of this place, killed 28 which had attacked him, while as many more escaped. When the fight began he struck at one huge gray rat with the hoe; the animal squealed, and in an instant the loft was full of rats, which attacked Hunsberger, grabbing at his legs and tearing his trousers with their sharp teeth, others jumping on his back and snapping at him. Hunsberger dropped the hoe, frightened, and endeavored to get out of the loft through a trap door. The door had "caught," and, finding he could not get it open, he again grabbed the hoe, and, with part of the handle as a weapon, fought the infuriated little animals.—Lansdale (Pa.) Dispatch to Philadelphia Record.

Pennsylvania's Disappearing Timber.

An idea of the rapidity with which the timber is disappearing from some sections of Pennsylvania can be obtained from the following figures, which refer to the timber cutting on the Hicks Run tract, in Clearfield county: Original size of tract, 9,000 acres; timber cut the first two years, 2,000 acres; still standing, 6,000 acres; amount of timber cut, 50,000,000 feet; amount standing, 200,000,000 feet; daily capacity of sawmill, 200,000 feet; daily shipments, 15 carloads; amount of timber in Hicks Run yard, 6,000,000 feet; time of operation, two years; estimated time to cut standing timber, four years; number of men employed, 800 to 1,000.

DISEASES OF THE DECEASED.

Colored Man's Knowledge Might Well Have Puzzled Professor.

Representative John Sharp Williams tells of a coroner's inquest in Georgia, wherein the coroner was endeavoring to elicit information from a colored witness named Ben Botts. "Did you ever hear the deceased complain of any ailment?" was the first question put to Botts.

"De who, sah?"

"The deceased."

Botts scratched his head in perplexity, looked thoughtful for a moment, then called into consultation his wife, daughter and son-in-law. After much whispering, he faced the coroner again. "I never knowed no deceased, sah," he replied.

"The deceased means the man lying dead there," explained the coroner.

"Oh!" exclaimed Botts. "Ef yo' means de dead man, I begins to understand. Ef I don't disremember, I did heah dat he had a rattlin' ob de brain."

"Rattling of the brain?" What is that?"

"Well, sah, it ain't exactly a misery ob de stomach, but it ain't fur from it; an' it's jest 'bout as painful as flintin' at de heart, or ketchin' ob de joints, or settlin' ob de bones; an' ef I makes no mistake, it ain't so powerful fur from ringin' in de years, an' twitchin' ob de skull."—Sunday Magazine.

CORNER STONE OF EMPIRE.

Horse Has at All Times Been Potent Factor in War.

From the earliest times the horse has been a potent factor in war, and to-day his education is a delicate and serious matter, undertaken at great expense by all the nations of the world. Germany needs a million horses for cavalry and artillery to put her colossal forces in the field; France requires probably three-quarters of a million; and even Great Britain has needed as many as 230,000—in her serious predicament in South Africa while she was fighting the Boers.

Although England in peace time mounts only two-thirds of her cavalry, her horse bill amounts to about $400,000 a year—a figure which may be multiplied by four or five for the German army. In most countries omnibus, farm and domestic horses are registered as being available in time of war for miscellaneous service, and for this anything from $30,000 to $150,000 a year may be paid by a military nation.

France spends upward of $600,000 a year on horses for her great armies. As a general rule, the recruits are five years old and cost $200 each.—From "The War Horse at School," by William C. Fitz-Gerald, in the Circle.

KILAUEA WORTH A VISIT.

Hawaii's Show Volcano Is One of the World's Wonders.

Kilauea, the spur of the great Mauna Loa, is a well-behaved volcano, as it can be visited with perfect safety, even if in eruption—as it is from time to time—when exhibitions of activity are given that are worth traveling thousands of miles to witness. This volcano is on the island of Hawaii, and the shortest possible trip that can be made to it from Honolulu covers four days. This allows only half a day at the volcano, which is much too short a time to study the workings of what is considered one of the world's wonders. A week at least should be given to the trip. The sea voyage is always more or less rough, but the boats, although small, are comfortable. From Hilo, where the water trip ends, there is a railroad ride of about 18 miles through the big Olaa sugar plantation. This is followed by a stage run of 11 miles over a road leading through a perfect fairyland of tropical foliage, the highway being lined on either side with roses, magnolias and ferns, without losing any of their delicate beauty. Returning by the other route, there is a stage drive of 35 miles over lava roads and across the great flow which ran into the sea from Mauna Loa several years ago.—Leslie's Weekly.

Master's Gentle Hint.

The story goes that a pretty young lady once played in class a ballad by Chopin in a very amateurish way. Liszt walked up and down the room excitedly murmuring: "Helligor Bim-bam! Helligor Bim-bam!" (the equivalent, apparently, of "Great Scott!"). But when she had finished he went up to her in a most friendly manner, laid his hand upon her head as if in benediction, and said, gently: "My dear child, marry soon. Good-by!"

Peculiar Table Dainties.

The Japanese eat cockchafters, and the Chinese are fond of the chrysalis of silkworms, after the silk has been wound off; they fry them and season with pepper, salt and vinegar.

Thought for the Pessimist.

Even the pessimist will admit that, if it were not for the sunny days, we couldn't truly appreciate the cloudy ones.—Puck.

Much Impressed.

"Were you ever struck by the grandeur of nature in a storm?" "Oh, yes, m'am. Once particularly."

"When was that?"

"When the lightning struck me."—Baltimore American.

BIG GAME HUNTING IN WYOMING.

A party of men and women of Philadelphia have just returned, says The Omaha Bee, from a three months' trip of roughing it in Wyoming, where they were the guests of Mr. Gilpin Lovering on his ranch near Dubois. They have brought with them a rich collection of heads of deer, antelope and mountain sheep; and the young people, bronzed and healthy looking, give full corroborating to their tales of horseback riding through the foot hills, hours of lying in wait for big game, and camping out on the half broken trails.

Mr. Lovering's ranch is eighty miles from Lander, the terminus of the North Western Line, in the midst of the finest Big Game country in America. It is at an elevation of 7,000 feet. The ranch covers thousands of acres. The houses are of logs, with big open fire places and large rooms, and possess particularly strong interest by reason of the fact that Owen Wister is said to have written the first part of his famous novel, "The Virginian," here.

STOMACH IS SEAT OF HUMAN LIFE

New Theory Advanced by Young Man Is Spreading Over Entire Country.

L. T. Cooper's theory concerning the human stomach, which he claims to prove with his new medicine, is being given more respect and comment every day.

Cooper claims that 90 per cent. of all ill health is due to stomach trouble. When interviewed about his theory recently, he said: "Stomach trouble is the great curse of the 20th century so far as the civilized races are concerned. Practically all of the chronic ill health of this generation is caused by abnormal stomachic conditions. In by abnormal stomachic conditions. In earlier days, when the human race was closer to nature, and men and women worked all day out of doors, digging their frugal existence from the soil, the tired, droopy, half-sick people that are now so common, did not exist.

"To be sure, there was sickness in those days, but it was of a virulent character, and only temporary. There was none of this half-sick condition all the time with so many are afflicted nowadays.

"I know positively that every bit of this chronic ill health is caused by stomach trouble. The human stomach in civilized people today is degenerate. It lacks tone and strength. This weakness has gradually come through a sedentary existence. I further know that few people can be sick with the digestive apparatus in perfect shape. The sole reason for my success is because my New Discovery medicine tones the stomach up to required strength in about six weeks' time. That is why I have had more people come and thank me wherever I have gone to introduce my medicine, than I have had time to talk with."

Among the immense numbers of people who are now strong believers in Cooper's theory and medicine is Mrs. M. E. Delano, a prominent resident of the suburb of Brookline, Boston, Mass. She says: "For several years I was broken in health, caused primarily by stomach and nerve troubles. I gradually became worse, until recently I was compelled to go without solid food for days at a time. I had sour stomach, palpitation of the nerves of stomach and heart, dyspepsia, and extreme nervousness. I suffered terribly with insomnia, and my liver, bowels and whole system gradually became deranged. I felt instant relief the first day I began this Cooper medicine. I now feel like a new being. Today I walked all over town, shopping—something I have not done for years."

"I make this statement wholly from a sense of duty. I feel I owe it to anyone who might find relief and renewed happiness as I have done."

The record made by the Cooper medicine is astonishing. We will take pleasure in discussing it with anyone who wishes to know about them—J. J. Reardon.
